OTHER LIMITATIONS

(a) All depositions to be read into evidence as part of the parties' case-in-chief shall be EDITED so as to exclude all unnecessary, repetitious, and irrelevant testimony; ONLY those portions which are relevant to the issues in controversy shall be read into evidence.

(b) The following excuses will not warrant a continuance nor justify a failure to comply with the discovery deadline:

(i) The fact that there are motions for summary judgment or motions to dismiss pending;

(ii) The fact that one or more of the attorneys is set for trial in another court on the same day, unless the other setting was made prior to the date of this order or was made as a special provision for the parties in the other case;

(iii) The failure to complete discovery prior to trial, unless the parties can demonstrate that it was impossible to complete discovery despite their good faith effort to do so.

(c) COMPLETING PARTY (NON THIRD-PARTY) DOCUMENT DISCOVERY

(i) On Friday, November 1, 2013, the parties will exchange bullet-point lists that specifically describe the remaining documents that each side seeks from the other. These should be as specific as practicable and not open-ended.

(ii) On Wednesday, November 6, 2013, the parties will exchange responses to the bullet-point lists, with specific agreements to produce requested documents by the production deadline, or with non-agreement, in which case such issues will be ripe for a lead counsel meet-and-confer.

(iii) As soon thereafter as lead counsel's schedules allow, lead counsel will meet-and-confer on any remaining documents disputes, and any issues on which the parties reach impasse can be raised with the Court.

(iv) With regard to specific document(s) identified at a deposition that fall into either (1) previously agreed-upon categories, or (2) the bullet-point lists generated during the process described above, a party may request production of such specific document(s). But, a party cannot use deposition discovery to request new categories of documents.

(v) This process will not address document production pursuant to third-party subpoenas.

(d) OTHER PROVISIONS

(i) This agreement is without prejudice to Apple seeking further claim narrowing in advance of trial, and Core Wireless seeking further prior art narrowing in advance of trial.

(ii) The parties agree that for the purposes of this case (including limits on the number of prior art references), a standard specification (e.g., the 3GPP UMTS specification) shall count as a single prior art reference.

(iii) Notwithstanding the extension of fact discovery beyond January 24, 2014, no new written party discovery will be served and no new deposition notices of party witnesses will be served.

(e) NOKIA DISCOVERY

(i) Core Wireless will provide a list of the Nokia inventors it may call at trial (either current or former Nokia employees) as promptly as possible—and in any event by February 7, 2014. Apple may identify additional inventors it wishes to depose, and Core Wireless will work to secure their depositions to the extent they are still at Nokia and will further provide any good faith assistance possible to secure depositions of other inventors no longer at Nokia (e.g., by asking Nokia to reach out to them).

(ii) Core Wireless will not oppose Apple's efforts to seek further discovery from Nokia, including through the Hague Convention process. Although Core Wireless commits to do what it can to facilitate the prompt production of such evidence, Core Wireless states that it does not have control over Nokia. Neither side will raise any objection based on the timing of when Nokia produces evidence in response to Apple's requests. If Core Wireless or Nokia do not make available the Nokia witnesses that Apple wishes to depose, Apple reserves the right to seek preclusion of the testimony of any Nokia witnesses at trial.

(iii) The parties will work together to schedule the deposition of all Finland-based or foreign-based witnesses to minimize attorney travel.

So ORDERED and SIGNED this 17th day of November, 2014.
